

The Royal Academy of Engineering

Visiting Professors Workshop Churchill College Sept. 12-13th 2006

Questions for workshop conclusion

- A. Who - what sort of people - need to be brought on through the educational system if change is to be addressed effectively?
- B. What is the role of education at both school and university level to teach these people? And what should they be taught?
- C. What should industry do to assist in this process?
- D. And what is currently holding us back - why are we not dealing adequately with change now? What are the barriers to success? What should be our plans for action?